

The podcast about Micro and Nano Technicians:

Who they are,
What they do, and
How they got there.

Hosted by Peter Kazarinoff and supported by the Micro Nano Technology Education Center (MNT-EC) and the National Science Foundation (NSF) Advanced Technological Education (ATE).

A great opportunity for listeners to learn more about working technicians who have completed Community College or Technical Institute training.

Take a moment to listen to our interviewees share their life experiences and academic journeys to secure their career goals.

Learn more about how these life journeys can inspire your new students to move forward with their own career visions of being the next Intel, TSMC, or National Laboratory technician employee.
